

POLICE RAID LONDON IN SEARCH FOR SINN FEIN PLOT EVIDENCE

UNEARTH PLANS FOR TERRORISM IT IS ALLEGED

Armed Policemen From Scotland Yard Conduct Raids.

DOCUMENTS SEIZED
Authorities Act On Tip
That Outrages Were Being Planned.

London, Jan. 20.—A detachment of more than 50 policemen from Scotland Yard, all heavily armed, made a series of anti-Sinn Fein raids throughout London during the night. Official announcement was made by Scotland Yard this afternoon that evidence had been found that the Irish Self Determination League in England is closely allied with the militant Sinn Feiners at Dublin and that the latter have been urging the officials of the league to commit outrages in this city.

Among the houses raided were the homes of the secretaries of the London branches of the league. Important documents were seized. It was unofficially reported that the home of Mrs. Eadie whose brother was executed for his part in the Dublin rebellion in 1916, was searched and that papers were seized on the ground they showed the closest cooperation between the woman and the chiefs of the Irish republican army.

REPRISALS BREAK OUT
Two Houses Occupied By Sinn
Feiners Burned By Soldiers
Cork, Jan. 20.—Reprisal incendiarism broke out here today. British soldiers and black and tans surrounded a large area of the western part of the city, and after searching many buildings, burned two houses.
It was declared that shots had been fired from these houses last Saturday wounding two detectives. The houses were occupied by Sinn Feiners.

SEEK FIRE BUGS HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR WORCESTER BLAZE

Police Hold Two Men In Connection With Series
Of Fires.

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 20.—Two men were being held and a third was being sought by the police today in connection with the series of fires which swept through the heart of this city's business district.

One of the men, a night watchman in one of the burned buildings, was held for observation at Worcester hospital after he had told conflicting stories of the fire to the state police.

Three fires during the night following the series of fires yesterday
had set the city on edge today and a heavy police guard was placed about downtown buildings. State, city and county investigations of the fires were being pushed.

EXPECT TRIAL JURY COMPLETED THURSDAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 20.—With a prospect that a complete jury might be sworn in before nightfall, the prosecution and defense today resumed
the selection of the men who will decide the fate of Mrs. Louise Peete, charged with the murder of Jacob C.
Denton.

The defendant finished her first day's ordeal in as calm appearing state of mind and with as rosy cheeks as if she had been on an outing at the beaches, or on a jaunt in an auto party driving through the fresh brisk air.

HAIRPIN IS NOT ENOUGH EVIDENCE

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—You can't convict a woman on the style of hairpin she affects.

So decided a jury of which five women were members in Judge Dan B. Cull's court.

Miss Mary Smith was accused of larceny. The state's case hinged upon a hairpin, which held together a piece of drapery in which stolen jewelry was wrapped.

The defense offered evidence to show that the hairpin was of a common variety and the jury
after five hours returned a verdict of not guilty.

STATE PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER WILL BE FACT IF BILL PASSES LEGISLATURE

Search and Seizure Provision Will Be Passed is Prediction Despite Considerable Opposition That Has Developed In Circles.

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—Passage of the Miller emergency measure providing for a state prohibition commissioner, to be appointed by the governor and other machinery for uniform state wide enforcement of prohibition, is expected to be recommended today by the senate temperance committee.

Although considerable opposition
has developed to the search and seizure of the bill, which would give prohibition inspectors the right to enter homes containing liquors made since the state went dry, May 27, 1919,

NO HOPE OFFERED FOR LASTING PEACE IN IRELAND NOW

Bishop Cohan of Cork, Thinks Situation "Quite Hopeless."

Manchester, England, Jan. 20.—The home rule law offers no hope for an enduring peace in Ireland Bishop Cohan of Cork was quoted as saying in an interview printed by the Guardian today. The prelate who is one of the most influential men in Cork continued:

"My first impression was that Eam-onn DeValera was home on a peace
mission but there seems to be no ground for hope in that direction so long as every attempt is taken as a sign of weakness. The position seems to be quite hopeless. I am unable to find a person in southern Ireland
who has even read the partition (home rule law). If the election is held it is certain that an overwhelming majority of Sinn Feiners will sit in the Dublin legislature. While the home rule law offers no hope for an enduring peace I advised its acceptance as a springboard from which we might jump to something better."

HOLD CONVENTION OF SAND AND GRAVEL MEN IN COLUMBUS

Action Of Interstate Commerce Commission Is Scored.

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—Activities of the National Sand and Gravel Association during the coming year and the past 12 months will be summarized by V. O. Johnston, president, at today's session here of the annual convention of the Ohio Sand and Gravel Association. Officers will be elected.

G. C. Baker, Greenville, secretary of the state association, declared that priority orders, issued by the interstate commerce commission, cutting off the supply of cars to sand and gravel producers was "the most bitter injustice ever done any industry."

Abolition of the priority system of car distribution was argued by the convention.

TWO DEAD, MANY HURT ON ICY WALKS

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—Two persons are dead and many others sustained injuries as a result of the storm last yesterday which coated Cleveland streets with a thin layer of ice. The dead are Raymond F. Hubbard, of Hartford, Conn., and Wilbur Fitzgerald, 12, of Cleveland. Hubbard fell in front of a train on the Belt Line, and the boy was killed coasting.

OHIOAN RECEIVES CARNEGIE MEDAL

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—One silver medal and 25 bronze medals were awarded for acts of heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its mid-winter meeting there yesterday. Nine of the heroes lost their lives in attempting to save other persons, and to the dependents the commission gave adequate financial assistance.

Glenn W. Kissel of Cleveland was the only Ohioan on the list. He will receive a bronze medal for saving Kathryn Farnbach of Springfield
Center from drowning, Aug. 3, 1917.

The silver medal was given Harry E. Brader, Forty Fort, Pa., who saved J. Almond Eddy from drowning at Laketon, Pa., Aug. 22, 1917.

HIS MOTHER WINS SUIT FOR ESTATE

litigation is the illegitimate son of Peggy Marsh and Henry Field II who has since died.

Johnson was an aviator in the American army during the war.

Mrs. Johnson is now recovering from an operation at a hospital here
while her son and his new step father are living at a hotel.

"The boy is a great kid and he deserves the chance that his mother and I are going to give him," Johnson declared today.

Johnson admitted that his family
with the exception of his brother, Joseph, did not exactly approve of his marriage.

"But that's all right," he declared.
"They'll come around all right later. At any rate I am going to fight
this thing out."

The bridegroom's father, Albert
Johnson died in 1901 leaving a big fortune. The son will inherit a considerable sum from his father's estate next October.

"My wife is the most wonderful girl in the world," the young bridegroom declared. "I know the fight
she has had and the difficulties she has surmounted and I am with her through thick and thin."

New York, Jan. 20.—Peggy Marsh, beautiful young actress, who has been attempting through the courts to secure a portion of the vast Marshall Field estate in Chicago for her four year old son, Tony, has been secretly married to Albert E. Johnson, nephew of former Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, it was learned today.

The marriage was performed by justice of the peace at Greenwich, Conn. According to information from an authoritative source the executors of the Marshall Field estate have agreed to recognize the validity of Miss Marsh's claims and have agreed to pay her $50,000 a year and to buy her a mansion either in the United States or England.

Little "Tony," the cause of all the

ENGLAND ENLISTING AMERICAN INTERESTS TO DESTROY MARINE

—Declares U. S. Senator.

Charges Great Britain With Using Every Method To Destroy Merchant Marine of This Country—Ben- son Determined To Go Ahead With Plans.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Great Britain is not only using her own efforts to destroy the American merchant marine, but she is enlisting American interests in such a campaign, Senator Wesley L. Jones, Republican of Washington, charged here today in an address before the National Merchant Marine Association.

In the face of these charges Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, announced the firm policy to proceed
as charged by the law of the land to establish a permanent merchant marine.

"Mind you, gentlemen, the law says
a permanent merchant marine under the American flag, vessels shall be maintained between United States
ports or possessions to other world
or domestic ports," Admiral Benson declared.

The International Mercantile Marine company, an American organization, owner of the American line of steamships has entered into a 20 year written agreement with the British admiralty to pursue "no policy injurious to the British mercantile marine or British trade," Senator Jones declared.

Under the terms of this agreement
the lord high chancellor of Great Britain is to act as arbiter in any dispute between the American company and the British admiralty the senator said.

The United States chamber of commerce and its magazine, "The Nation's Business," the chamber of commerce of the state of New York,
an unnamed agent of the United States shipping board, International bankers and heads of great railroad and steamship lines are all being used by British interests to injure the American merchant marine, Jones declared. British shipping interests are encouraging eastern trunk lines to seek the cancellation of existing equalized export freight rates to all Atlantic ports in order to center exports in the port of New York. Senator Jones charged. British shipping interests center in New York, the senator declared and "whatever helps the port of New York benefits British ship owners. A monopoly of export freight sent through the port of New York spells greater profits for these British owners."

HARDING SPENDS LAST DAY AT HIS HOME WITH PREPARATIONS

Resigns As President of Harding Publishing Co.
at Marion.

Marion, O., Jan. 20.—Senator
Harding's last day at home before leaving for St. Augustine, Fla., was given over entirely to preparations for travel and to winding up of his business affairs. The latter process began with the senator's resignation as president of the Harding publishing company, which controls the Marion Star. By this action he disassociated himself from direction of the policy of the paper.

Senator Harding will attend tonight a special meeting of the Marion lodge of Elks of which he is a member. It is possible the president elect may say a few words but he will speak as an Elk to his lodge members with no outsiders present.
He is expected to leave Marion
some time after this meeting.

It was announced today that Harry M. Daugherty, one of his closest advisers, would accompany him
north.

U. S. NOT REPRESENTED IN PARLEYS TO DECIDE INTERNATIONAL ISSUES

Decisions of Great Consequence To Be Made By Allied Premiers.

GERMAN ISSUE UP Attitude Of This Country Is Against Further Occupation.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Decisions of great consequence may be reached and policies of world import may be mapped out in Paris next week at the meeting of the allied premiers. The United States, however, will not be represented in the parleys, either by an active participant or by unofficial observers, according to present plans.

The United States has received an invitation to participate in a roundabout way. When Ambassador Jusserand of France delivered to the state department early in December,
a copy of the French note to Germany concerning the proposed occupation of the Ruhr valley district he also conveyed informally to this government the information that the allies would welcome an American representative in the January councils. He was thanked and that was all.

The question of German disarmament and reparations is expected to be the principal object of the parley,
and in this problem the United States has more than academic interest, in spite of our non-participation. Leading French statesmen, among whom is former President Poincare, are expected to be insistent that the French occupy more German territory because of Germany's alleged failure to live up to the letter of the treaty.

The attitude of this government is distinctly against further occupation of German territory by the French and such action on the part of France might lead to some positive action by this government.

SETTLEMENT OF BRITISH CLAIMS WILL BE MADE

Representative On Way To U. S. To Make Adjustment.

U. S. DEBT 25 MILLIONS Will Probably Be Charged Against Five Billions Owed America.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Sir Ernest E. Raeburn, representing the government of Great Britain will arrive in Washington within a few days to affect a settlement of British claims against the war department amounting to approximately $25,000,000.

Immediately upon his arrival, Sir Ernest will begin negotiations with Brig. General W. D. Conner, who is handling all maritime claims against the war department, and it is expected that a speedy settlement will result.

Great Britain's claims represent
part of the cost of transporting American troops to Europe during the war, approximately 51 percent of the American expeditionary force having crossed the Atlantic in British bottoms.

A war department appropriation from which claims may be paid in cash, will be available until June 30, but it has not yet been determined whether the British claim will be met from this fund or charged against the $5,000,000,000 which Great Britain owes United States
Secretary of War Baker stated today that the matter had not yet been brought officially to his attention and until he had made further investigation he was unable to say when funds might be used for liquidating the claim.

According to army officials, maritime claims now outstanding against the war department total approximately $187,000,000. The claim arises chiefly from the transportation of American troops in foreign vessels and in vessels taken over by the shipping board and allotted to the war department and from collisions at sea in which war department craft have been involved.

LOOT OF BANDITS IN MAIL ROBBERY REACHES HALF MILLION

Chicago Loss When Twelve
Sacks of Mail Stolen Enormous.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Loot obtained in the mail robbery at the Union station here early Tuesday morning may reach the value of $500,000, it was declared today as postoffice authorities continued their check up of the contents of twelve sacks of registered mail stolen by the bandits. Most of the loot was in bonds and negotiable securities, reports indicate.

Several brokerage houses already have reported losses that swell the original estimate. Blair and Company, New York brokers, have reported a loss of $61,000; Ames Emerick and Company, brokers, a loss of $8,000 and the Harrt Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago a loss of $9,000.

Original estimates of the loss were purposely made low by postoffice officials, it has been learned, in a desire to prevent mail robberies from becoming too attractive to lawless men. It is admitted the check up of amounts lost is still far from complete.

It also has been learned that approximately $197,000, mostly in currency of small denomination, was obtained by bandits in the mail robbery at Mount Vernon, Ill., last week.

U. S. AND GERMAN DIPLOMATS MEET

The Hague, Jan. 20.—The American and German Ministers dined at the same table last night, when the Queen gave a state dinner to the heads of the diplomatic missions. It is believed that this is the first time since the war that the representatives of these two countries have appeared under such circumstances.
The two Ministers, however were seated far apart.

WILSON DEFERS PLANS REGARDING INAUGURAL

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Wilson is deferring his plans for participation in the inauguration of President elect Harding until the president elect communicates his desires to the White House, it was announced today.

President Wilson is ready to participate in the inauguration but will make no plans until President elect Harding indicates whether he wishes the president to accompany him to the capitol and to participate in other ways.

DeVALERA IS CALLED.
Dublin, Jan. 20.—Eamon DeValera's name was called as a juror at Quarter sessions court in Wicklow today. There was no response and the judge announced that "Mr. DeValera was excused."

land. Mr. and Mrs. Kahn were en-

Mrs. Mary Duffield CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mary Duffield, life long resident of Cedarville, passed away at the home of her only daughter, Mrs. Willard Trout, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

While in failing health for the past four years, Mrs. Duffield was thought to be as well as usual until Sunday evening when she suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, which caused her death.

Mrs. Duffield was born December 6, 1842, being 78 years of age. Her husband, George W. Duffield, a veteran of the Civil War, predeceased her in death 34 years ago.

Mrs. Duffield is survived by three children, Mrs. Willard Trout, and James Duffield both of Cedarville, and William Duffield, an only brother, Taylor Sweeney of near Osborn. Six other children preceded her in death many years ago.

Mrs. Duffield was a member of the United Presbyterian Church at Cedarville.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Willard Trout, and burial will be made at Massey's Creek cemetery.

WILBERFORCE WINS OVER BALTIMORE

Wilberforce, Jan. 20.—The Beacon Gym was crowded and fifteen hundred enthusiastic fans witnessed the most thrilling encounter of the season, last night when the Baltimore Athenians went down to defeat at the hands of Wilberforce by the score of 34 to 31. The university squad, in command of Captain Hall, removed the "line" when they defeated the Alpha Omega team of Dayton tucked snuggly under cover, a defeat of 21-20 by Springfield, a 13-3 tie with the Columbus Collegians, and another defeat on last Saturday by the Indianapolis 28-26, the representatives of the gold and green were determined to redeem themselves.

Both teams were in excellent trim and it was quite a time before the initial basket was scored; Baltimore led and the collegians caged five baskets in succession. Captain Armstrong called time out and Butler was substituted for Brown. The battle raged and it was not long before Banks fell on the floor suffering from a sprained shoulder. McDonauld was substituted for Banks but seemed somewhat excited and while McGee was handicapped the visitors managed to rally and tie the score in the first half, 8-18.

The local team came back in the second half more determined than ever and gained the lead and maintained it throughout the remainder of the game. Stone and Hall were in the best of form and both played sensational roles during the evening. Fisher was at center and proved to be a worthy opponent for the easterner; Murdock maintained the ever ready applause of the student body and was a valuable asset in the victorious out come until he was taken out. Banks came back with vim and vigor to replace Murdock.

PRACTICE THIS ON YOUR PIANO

"If a hen and a half, lays an egg and a half in a day and a half, how many eggs can she lay in six days?" Do you know the answer to this conundrum? R. E. Corry, County Commissioner, thought he did, and his guess cost him the dinners for Commissioners R. D. Williamson and G. N. Perrill, and Commissioner's Clerk S. O. Hale, Tuesday.

It was Mr. Corry and Mr. Hale who had the argument over the proper answer, but it was Mr. Williamson who proposed that the loser in the debate should give the dinners for the crowd. Mr. Corry had his answer correct but in propounding the riddle he made an error in the question. As a result he paid—buying the dinners for the rest at the Elk's Club.

SPANISH SHIP "OVERDUE"
London, Jan. 20.—The Spanish steamship Yute, from Baltimore for Dunkirk, France, with a cargo of coal, has been posted at Lloyd's as "much overdue." When 240 miles off the New Jersey coast, November 17, the Yute sent out a wireless call for help. A number of vessels which picked up the message made a search for the Yute without success.

GIVEN UP TO DIE OF STOMACH TROUBLE

But Mr. Baker is well now. Feels like he did at sixteen.

"One year ago in September I was taken down; couldn't eat, sleep or work. The doctors didn't know exactly what was the matter. Some said I had catarrhal gastritis, and others, cancer. Anyway, I was given up to die.

"A friend persuaded me to try Milks Emulsion. In 2 or 3 weeks, the soreness went out of my lungs, the pains vanished from between my shoulders, and I began to eat and sleep, and work. Also the miserable lonesome feeling began to tear loose and that heavy weight in the left side of my stomach, that hung like a huge iron ball, disappeared.

"By the time I had taken 21 bottles, I could eat anything, sleep like an infant, and the old time vim came back. I felt like I did when I was 16."—Lyman Baker, Star Route, Berryville, Ark.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CHATTER

"Hi there, sir!" shouted a summer resort landlord to a departing guest who was rushing for the train, "you've dropped your pocket-book."

"All right," shouted back the guest without stopping, "I've no further use for it."

The silence of the night was broken by the crashing of glass, and the lone M. P. rushed to the spot with drawn gat just in time to receive in his arms Private Gupp, pursued by a howling Frenchman. With unintelligible explosions of rage the latter gesticulated toward his broken shop window.

"What's the big idea of smashin' the guy's window?" roared the M. P.

"I didn't go for to do it," retorted Private Gupp. "The frog short changed me, and if his window is smashed it's his own fault."

"How do you make that out? You broke it, didn't you?"

"Yeah, but I tell you it's his own fault. I aimed at his head and the son of a gun ducked."

"Now, Gerald, I hope you are not going to marry a mere parlor ornament. In other words, I hope the girl you have selected is a girl who can do something."

"She's that, all right. Why, that girl can roll a cigarette better than I can."

JAPANESE OFFICE REFUSES COMMENT

Tokio, Jan. 20.—Although the Japanese foreign office would neither comment on nor give the date of Japan's reply to the note of the United States on the killing of naval Lieutenant W. H. Langdon at Vladivostok by a Japanese sloop, it was learned from an official source today that Japan refuses to consider the incident cause for an international misunderstanding.

Because of the volume of criticism of the government's policy in the Langdon case which had been poured forth by the Japanese papers, foreign office officials have been unusually guarded in their utterances.

EX-BRITISH TOMMY HEARS LECTURE ON NEAR EAST TUESDAY

When Captain Harry Hurd, was speaking of conditions in the near East at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday evening, he had one interested listener, who almost anticipated the speaker's words.

This was Harry Williams, brother of Mrs. Crawford Craig, who makes his home with his brother-in-law and sister in this city, but who, previously to coming here, served his quota of four years with the British Army, his home being in England.

As it happened, Mr. Williams was with the British Expeditionary Army on his trip through Palestine and Egypt, and he heartily endorsed the statements of the speaker in regard to conditions there. When the speaker referred to the dialect of the English Tommies and their fondness for afternoon tea, Mr. Williams smiled knowingly for he still speaks with that same British accent and the reference to the tea periods, probably recalled many memories of hot afternoons on the sun bleached sands of the Egyptian country.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF BALLOON TRIP HAS BEEN REQUESTED

Rockaway, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Lieut. L. A. Kloor, in command of the balloon flight that ended in Canada, was requested by the naval board investigating the episode to furnish an official report of the flight.

Kloor previously had testified no log was carried on the trip but that he kept notes on a pad of paper, which he had destroyed after incorporating them in a story of the air journey which he had written.

"You have not yet filed an official report of the flight?" asked Captain Hough, a member of the naval inquiry board.

"No sir," answered Kloor. "You had it," pursued Hough. "You destroyed it after incorporating it in a story. You have to furnish us with the official data of the flight."

Kloor promised to do so and then conferred with Lieut. Walter Hinton with whom he is understood to be collaborating in writing a book of their experience.

Lieut. L. H. Corbin testified that the balloon equipment carried by the three airmen was valued at $8,740.17. Lieut. Stephen A. Farrell who has been ill, was expected to testify this afternoon. Since Hinton's testimony concerning the knife incident, Farrell has been referred to as the interested party of the probe. Both Hinton and Kloor will follow Farrell's testimony closely. Kloor hesitated about leaving the courtroom for the flight record until assured that Farrell would not testify immediately.

FORCE USED ONLY AS LAST RESORT BY FRENCH MINISTRY

New Cabinet Outlines Policy Which It Will Pursue.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The policy of the new Briand ministry, according to an apparently inspired article in the Matin today, will be based upon the following lines:

First—France will not use force against Germany to compel the strict enforcement of the treaty of Versailles unless all other means fail.

Second—Whatever President-elect Harding's plans are towards Germany, Premier Briand and his colleagues are confident that the United States will not refuse to support France in her efforts to obtain reasonable satisfaction from Germany.

Third—France will not entirely abandon her hostility to the bolshevik regime in Russia.

Fourth—France will co-operate with Great Britain and will make every effort to avoid friction which would lead to a split between the two powers.

It has been made evident by advices from Berlin, quoting German newspapers, that the Germans have been building high hopes on the possibility of disunion between the new Briand ministry and Great Britain.

The new government faced its first test of strength in parliament today. The premier announced that he would read his declaration of policy in the chamber during the afternoon.

Pierre Marraud, minister of the interior, was commissioned to read the ministerial declaration in the senate at the same time.

It was regarded as likely that debate in the government interpellations would take up much time making the vote very late.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The provisional Irish republic, through its consular service between Ireland and other countries, especially with the United States, the committee of 100 investigating the Irish question was told by J. L. Pawcett, who said he was the Irish consul general at New York.

A fortnightly service between New York and Cork, Mr. Pawcett said, is in operation and another service will open soon between Boston and an Irish port.

England is said by Pawcett to be making every effort to prevent direct shipping with Ireland. He added the opinion that "on account of her large debt to the United States, Great Britain probably will not take extreme measures of embarrass American foreign shipping."

Although it has subjected every ship to search and other indignities.

No passenger vessels are allowed to land in Ireland direct from America, the witness declared adding that this was "England's effort to stifle American passenger service that would compete with British monopoly."

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK SYSTEM A GREAT RESERVOIR OF CREDIT.

Extension of credits through the Federal Reserve Bank and its member banks in 1920 saved the United States from the most disastrous panic in history, according to a statement of Frank J. Hagenbarth, president of the National Wool Growers' Association, in his annual address at the opening of the national convention of the association at Salt Lake City, Monday. Aid by bankers, Mr. Hagenbarth said, was responsible for the existence of the sheep industry at present. He expressed optimism but said it would be two years before profits are shown.

We may not all know it, but wise political writers claim that the country has been passing through one of the most severe industrial crises in its history. This is attributed to the most unprecedented fall in prices ever known, as a culmination of a period of credit inflation, when according to past experience the banks might be expected to be the storm center, but on the contrary are functioning as usual.

The fundamental principle embodied in the Federal Reserve Act is that back of the banks which do business with the public, receiving deposits and making loans, there shall be a central organization, of which the local banks shall be members, and in which they shall keep their principal reserves. In other words, the central organization constitutes a common reservoir of cash and credit.

Under the Federal Reserve System, when a member bank needs to replenish its supply of cash on hand, it gathers up some of its customers' notes and takes them to the Reserve Bank and sells them, or, in technical language, rediscounts them, receiving currency for them. The mere gathering together of reserves for common protection would have been an improvement upon the old system, where each bank was supposed to carry its own reserves, but it will be observed that the Reserve Bank has a greater resource than this contribution from the member banks; it is given the power actually to create money for the purpose of increasing the supply in time of need. It is this power which is the chief reliance to protect the country from the recurrence of money panics and which inspires the confidence felt by bankers and all who understand the provisions of the system.

The panic of 1907 was called a "bankers' panic," because it took the public in general by surprise. Throughout the great interior prosperity prevailed, and nobody was thinking of making unusual demands on the banks, when suddenly, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, bankers themselves took fright and stopped paying cash, which, of course, alarmed everybody. Why was this so? It was because the bankers knew better than anybody else the weakness of their position. Certain developments concerning a bank in New York had started a run on it, which had spread to other banks, and gave fright to bankers all over the country. They began to draw money away from each other; each one, knowing the utter inadequacy of existing reserves, and that there were no means of replenishing them, hastened to grab all the money within reach and lock it up. To be plain about it, they led the panic themselves.

It never does much good to caution people against a panic, if they know that they are in danger and that no provision for their safety exists. If the people in a crowded hall discover that the building is on fire, and believe they are in danger of being burned, they will struggle to get out. If the people on a boat discover that it is on fire or sinking, and believe the facilities for saving them are inadequate, they are likely to struggle to help themselves. If the people who have money in a bank think the bank is likely to close, and that they will lose their money or have it tied up, they will try to get it out. The only way to safeguard against panics is by providing adequate protection, and this is what the Federal Reserve Bank system does.

A TWO-BILLION MOTOR COUNTRY.

By the accident of dates, 1921 marks the coming of age of the National Automobile Show. And the simple facts as to the growth of the motor industries of the country within the twenty years afford contrasts almost beyond the power of fancy to conjure up. Starting in 1899 with 3,700 cars to our credit, at a valuation of $4,750,000, in 1920 nearly 2,000,000 passenger cars and trucks were built, at a valuation of $2,000,000,000, to use round figures; and so universal is the use of the motor for pleasure and business that the number owned in America reaches the amazing total of 7,904,271, with a leeway of a few more thousand, that gives some kind of a car to every one in twelve the country over.

Possession of an auto is no badge of class distinction. This is shown, for one thing, in that over 2,300,000 farmers own cars. And if the leading agricultural states of the West, Iowa and Kansas, come up strongly with the largest number of cars per capita, one to six in the case of Iowa and one to eight in the case of Kansas, it is the industrial states of the East, with Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York in the lead, that register the greatest number of motor-driven vehicles. Ohio at present is the banner state, with 567,900 cars, and Pennsylvania comes next, with a few over 500,000.

If the twenty years of motor development means anything, the next five years will bring about the motor age with a vengeance. If there is a disposition to be proud of the record of the country at large, it is to be remembered that there are foreign critics ready to apply the caustic of shrill disapproval to our "motor orgy," as they see it, since it is viewed by them as an evidence of a wild national extravagance that is its own undoing. But, compared with the $22,000,000,000 spent annually on real luxuries, the output and the expenditure for automobiles are seen to be reasonable elements in our rational, industrial and social development. Indeed, if any expenditures above the bare necessities of life can ever be justified, it will be those that have made us a two-billion-dollar motor country.

LONG SHOT NEAR END OF GAME RESULTS IN DEFEAT OF METEORS

In what fans claimed to be one of the best basketball games ever played on a local court, St. Raphael's Meteors were defeated for the first time this season Wednesday night at the rink by the St. Raphael High quintet of Springfield.

A long, looping, lucky shot, started on its way less than two minutes before the end of the game, and from a point at least two-thirds of the length of the floor away from the basket, swished through the net with a slight that spelled the downfall of the green and white performers.

Captain Smith of the visitors, was author of the far-traveling shot, that caromed through the hoops and defeated Coach Haller's five. In a game where field goals were as scarce as bathing suits in Moose Factory, Canada, the long shot counted much, and in the few seconds of time left, the locals were unable to retrieve the victory hastily snatched from them.

The contest stood 7 to 6 in favor of the local lads when the whistle summoned the athletes from the floor at the end of the half. This score and the final result indicate the close guarding that was exhibited on both sides, and at no time during the evening's entertainment were the conflicting quintets separated by more than two points. It was the first time the Meteors were defeated this season. St. Raphael's being the only five to hand the short end of the score on the locals last year as well. The lineup and summary:

BIG FIGHT NOT OFF SAYS RICHARD

New York, Jan. 20.—Tex Rickard is holding a sack with what may be a white elephant in it today.

The king bee of promoters has apparently been left alone with the Dempsey-Carpenter fight on his hands by his associates in the making of the match.

William A. Brady was the first to withdraw. It was Brady who was responsible for the report that the big fight had been called off, and Brady who is the American representative of Charles B. Cochran, of London, says he is authorized to say that Cochran is also on the outside looking in.

Meanwhile Tex Rickard maintains that as far as he is concerned the big battle is not off and that he will stage it with new associates in or near Montreal July 2.

CHIN STRAPS
I receive a great many queries from women in their thirties who want to know what to do for the lax muscles under the chin that are so sure a sign of coming age.

Chin strapping is valuable for this because for eight or ten hours out of every 24 the sagging muscles are held back in place. There are a great many chin strapping devices on the market, but any woman can make one for herself if she wants to, or she can bandage the chin with strips of gauze tied over the head.

If a regular chin strap is made I would suggest that a piece of strong unbleached muslin be used. This should be hemmed to protect the edges and should be wide enough to fit under the chin and on each side as high up as the ears. Three little pleats should be taken on each side of the muslin strip and then two pieces of tape should be sewed to each end, so the strap may be

ANTI-TOBACCO.

Crusaders say their plans are ripe, they've hitched their wagons to some stars, and soon they'll take away my pipe, and shut me off from long cigars. When I am smoking I am mild, I never raise a fuss or rant, I am as gentle as a child, and harmless as my maiden aunt. But when they take my pipe away I fear I'll train with savage men; I really am afraid to say what tragedies may happen then. Our lives are full of ugly curves and what we suffer no one knows; tobacco soothes the tired man's nerves, and gives his jaded soul repose. There's peace in forty million homes because Tired Fathers puff and puff; with wreaths of smoke around their domes, they know tobacco is the stuff. They do not care to beat their wives or break the crockery and chairs; for smoking calms their troubled lives, as it would heal sore heads of bears. In moral fits, at divers times, I've thrown my trusty pipe away; then I wrote pessimistic rhymes and scrapped my trusty neighbors every day. I'd sternly say, "No stack of pelf will ever make me smoke again," and then I'd sit and hate myself, and also hate my fellow-men.

unless there is already a well established tendency towards this superfluous hair. If you will write me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed, I will send you a formula for a fine cold cream which I know will not grow hair. One of the best things you can use on the eye lashes is castor oil or vaseline. You can develop the arms and legs by systematic exercise.

MOTORAIDS

Sometimes, in a car the vaporized oil comes through the breather, is blown out in a mist and covers the hood and engine, making a bad mess all of the time. This may be remedied by fitting an elbow of soft rubber hose over the breather pipe. A tin pipe is fitted over the other end of this elbow, long enough to reach down into the dust pan, to which it is fastened. In this way the vaporized oil will be carried away from the engine and hood.

A glass tube which may be carried in one of the door pockets, makes a good instrument for determining the water level in the battery. In use the tube should be inserted in the battery with one hand held over upper end of the tube. By lifting the tube up slightly, the depth of water in the battery at once is shown. In refilling the battery with distilled water against the tube, the water will flow down the tube and into the battery without a spill.

LOOT IS RECOVERED

Getting Together

One of the biggest problems facing farmers and bankers today is that of providing ample farm credits on reasonable terms. They can solve it only by working together, says

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Our credit system is based on a 60-day paper intended to serve commercial interests with a quick turn-over. It doesn't serve the farmer, whose turn-over comes once a year. How can he be supplied with the capital he needs to run his farm business?

Because the problem of furnishing the farmer with ample credit facilities is one of such vital interest to the whole farm industry and to our national welfare, THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has many trained investigators working on the plans offered for solving the difficulties. Their articles will keep you informed on developments toward easier farm credits. For an example, next week's issue carries a story by E. V. Wilcox on financing the marketing of a major farm crop. Other competent articles are coming soon.

PRACTICAL AND THEORETICAL METHODS WILL BE COMBINED AT YELLOW SPRINGS COLLEGE

Education by both theory and practical methods is the plan for the new and greater Antioch College at Yellow Springs, as explained by Arthur E. Morgan, chief engineer of the Miami Conservancy District and new president of the college at the banquet given the new trustees at the Engineer's Club in Dayton Wednesday evening.

The plan conceived is a radical departure from the usual curriculum and one that Mr. Morgan believed to be a remedy to insure the continued life of small colleges. The plan as explained by the new president means the institution in the practical arts in theory and the putting to practice of this knowledge in the operation of small industries that will be maintained in the college. The plan is similar to the cooperative plan now in use in many of the larger schools. When it will be put in operation has not been decided upon.

In order that the plan reach the desired results, it will be put in operation with only picked students, said Mr. Morgan. "We plan to train men to proprietorship and administrative ability. No college can do this by theory alone. To do this best we must concentrate our energies on a few picked men, not to exceed 500 or 600. They must be chosen from among the offerings that come to us and only accepted after a careful scrutiny as to their fitness for the work."

The plan is expected to increase the revenue of the school and at the same time permit the students to earn their way through the institution. Morgan's plan was heartily approved of by the trustees of the college at the business meeting held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the board promises the cooperation in putting the plan over.

C. F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors and a member of the board, presided at the dinner. He characterized the plan of Mr. Morgan as an experiment in education, but said that if it is successful that Antioch College would be contributing much to the world in the way of education. Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company of Boston, Gordon S. Rentschler, of Hamilton, Frank D. Slutz, head of the Moraine Park school and Jerome D. Greene of the banking firm of Lee Higginson and Company were other speakers from among the board, who endorsed the new plan for the Yellow Springs School.

The guests at the dinner were as follows: F. C. Caldwell, of Columbus; Homer C. Corry of Springfield; Henry S. Dennison, Boston, Mass.; Jerome D. Greene, New York; L. M. Hosen, Cincinnati; George M. Verity, Middletown; J. W. Kiefer, of Springfield; Ralph Howell, Springfield; William Mayo, Detroit, Mich.; Ellery Sedgewick, Boston, Mass.; Henry Allen, Troy; J. L. Johnson, Troy; H. A. ## HAMPSHIRE HOGS

Of the leading men who profited by hog raising in 1920, 14,300 individuals and firms purchased the first registered Hampshire that they had ever owned in their lives. No breed of hogs of any kind ever enjoyed such a percentage or numerous growth in new owners.

The Hampshire breed of hogs has become popular upon the merit of the hog himself. In these days of business reasoning there must be a reason for selecting a breed of hogs, other than idle curiosity. If anyone would be successful in raising hogs they must have a kind of hog that has a good, kind mother for every litter. The Hampshire is such a kind, good natured mother that J. M. Ballard in 1920 had 72 sows to farrow litters which raised him 654 pigs. They must be good mothers to do that. From 1901 up to the close of 1920 the Hampshire breed has rapidly won over all other breeds of hogs from a pork producing standpoint. They outgrow other breeds when ever they have green forage for a part of their ration. They make a meat of fine, delicate texture, very pleasing to the palate; also, a very tender meat. Packers have found them to produce a higher percentage of their live weight in good, edible meat.

For a number of years the Chicago International has been a final battleground for supremacy and the Hampshire has won more than the lion's share every year. The carload lots in 1918 found the Hampshires selling $2.40 above the top selling price of any other show hogs and they won grand championship over all breeds. In 1919 they again won over all breeds and sold for $6.10 above the top of the market in the Yards, a record never attained by any other breed. In 1920 the Hampshire again won over all breeds and sold for $4.50 per hundred above the top of the market in the Yards. Furthermore, the Hampshire car in 1920 was the youngest first prize winning car in the show. The big type Poland car showed in the class under 200 lbs. per head on the average. The big type Duroc car showed in the class under 250 lbs. per head on the average; while the Hampshire, although younger than the two cars just mentioned and selected from a smaller drove, weighed 286 lbs. per head and had to show in the heavy weight class from 250 lbs. to 350 lbs. per head. Thus, the Hampshires were not only the youngest, but they were the biggest, killing the big type idea. They sold the best and killed the best. All of the barrows in the classes were also sold at auction at the International 1920. The Hampshires outsold all of the rest. The average selling price of the Hampshires was from 50c to $1.00 per hundred above the average selling price of any other breed. The judge awarded the grand championship over all breeds to a pen of three big type Poles; yet they sold 55c per hundred less than the average selling price of the 95 Hampshire barrows in the same show.

The Hampshire is the best and surest tax payer and profit maker in the hog family. He is the one hog that performs all duties in the breeding pens, farrowing pens and breeding classifications without losing sight of the pork barrel as his ultimate end. The Hampshire stands at the head of all classes in number of pigs raised to the litter, number of pounds of gain per day, week, or month, for the first year of his life and then places these pounds in such a symmetrical, solid meat body that he kills more pounds of net meat in proportion to his live weight than any competitor. In the carload classes 1918 the average dress of Hampshires was 84.9 per cent; 1919, 86 per cent; 1920, a single barrow at the Chicago International dressed 90.42 per cent of his live weight. The average dress of the Hampshires in this class was 85.55 per cent of their live weight and in the other class the Hampshire dressed above 85 per cent. Agricultural Colleges a few years ago disregarded the Hampshire, calling him a "new fad," but many of them now regard the Hampshire as the best of all hogs from at least a pork standpoint, which is the end of all hogs. The Illinois Experimental Station drove the champion Hampshire barrow and champion big type Poland China in the ring, asked the packer to take his choice, and the packer did by paying $1.25 per hundred more for the Hampshire than for the big type. The average fall barrow of 1919 farrowed of the Hampshire breed brought more money per head than the average spring barrow of 1919 of other breeds, the latter being six months older. Why feed expensive feed that extra six months? Better than 99 per cent of all the people that have ever tried the pure bred Hampshire hogs have kept them. In 1920 the number of breeders of Hampshires in the United States increased 75 per cent. You have tried the rest now try the best! The average Hampshire brood sow is worth more for pork market production alone than the average sow is of any other breed for the breeders and pork market business combined. I consider Foley Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy in the world. No recurrence of my trouble." Sayre & Hemphill.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF HAVING STOLEN GOODS IN POSSESSION

Lewis Leach, colored, East Main street pool room proprietor, was arrested by Chief of Police Graham on a charge of having stolen goods in his possession Wednesday.

The arrest was made following a search by Chief Graham and Patrolman Simms for property alleged to have been stolen by Lawrence Lowe, 20, colored, who is being held to the grand jury on a grand larceny charge, and who said he had sold part of his loot to Leach in a statement made to the police.

Leach entered a plea of not guilty before Police Judge E. Dawson Smith Wednesday afternoon and his hearing was set for Monday morning. His bond was fixed at $300. It is charged a blanket identified by Orlando Worthington, horseman, and one of the victims of Lowe's thieving at the fall race meeting at the Fair Grounds last October was found in Leach's possession.

TWO SHOWS BOOKED BY AMUSEMENT FIRM

The Standard Amusement Company is announcing the booking of Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield in "Look Who's Here," for presentation at the Opera House February 8.

"Look Who's Here" is a premier company musical show that is playing many of the large cities, and appears at the Lyric Theater, Cincinnati, the week before coming to this city.

The offering is booked through the Shuberts, through which agency "The Girl in the Limousine," another big city offering, is coming to this city Feb. 1. Both of these coming attractions are guaranteed first class companies by the management and both add to the importance of local theatrical circles.

Letters were awarded to members of Central High School's football team at an assembly held at the school Thursday morning.

Principal Harper Pendry, called on Captain Paul Boxwell who made the award, giving each athlete his coveted "X." COLUMBUS MAN WILL BECOME EDITOR OF
WILMINGTON JOURNAL

The Wilmington News Journal, is announcing the retirement of Thurman Miller, from the editorial desk, and the accession of Bert D. Strang, of Columbus, former telegraph editor of the Ohio State Journal, to that position.

Mr. Strang has purchased an interest in the News-Journal Company, and is now named on the board of directors. Mr. Miller, whom he succeeds as editor, is not retiring from active service, but in the future will be affiliated only with the business department of the paper, being associated with R. H. Knight in the advertising and circulation department. C. C. Martin will continue his connection with the company as auditor, and Raymond B. Howard, will continue to be city editor.

Mr. Miller, whose retirement takes effect the first of February, when Mr. Strang takes the "desk," has become well-known under the appellation of "Dusty" to paragraphers over the state, who have followed his curt witticisms under the name of "Bill Steedum," "Miss Wilmington," and other bits of freshness in the editorial columns. Whether he will continue to add these paragraphs to each issue, is not known.

The newspaper is planning a re-organization of its job department and is announcing the purchase of another linotype machine. Mr. Strang, the new editor, who will move to Wilmington in June, was for three years located in Dayton, later being stationed at Indianapolis and finally going to Columbus where he was city editor of the State Journal for three years and telegraph editor for the last 12 years.

HERE ARE FEW TIPS
ON CARE OF FURNACE

The furnace cannot work properly unless the fuel is at least 8 by 8 inches; 8 by 12 inches is better.

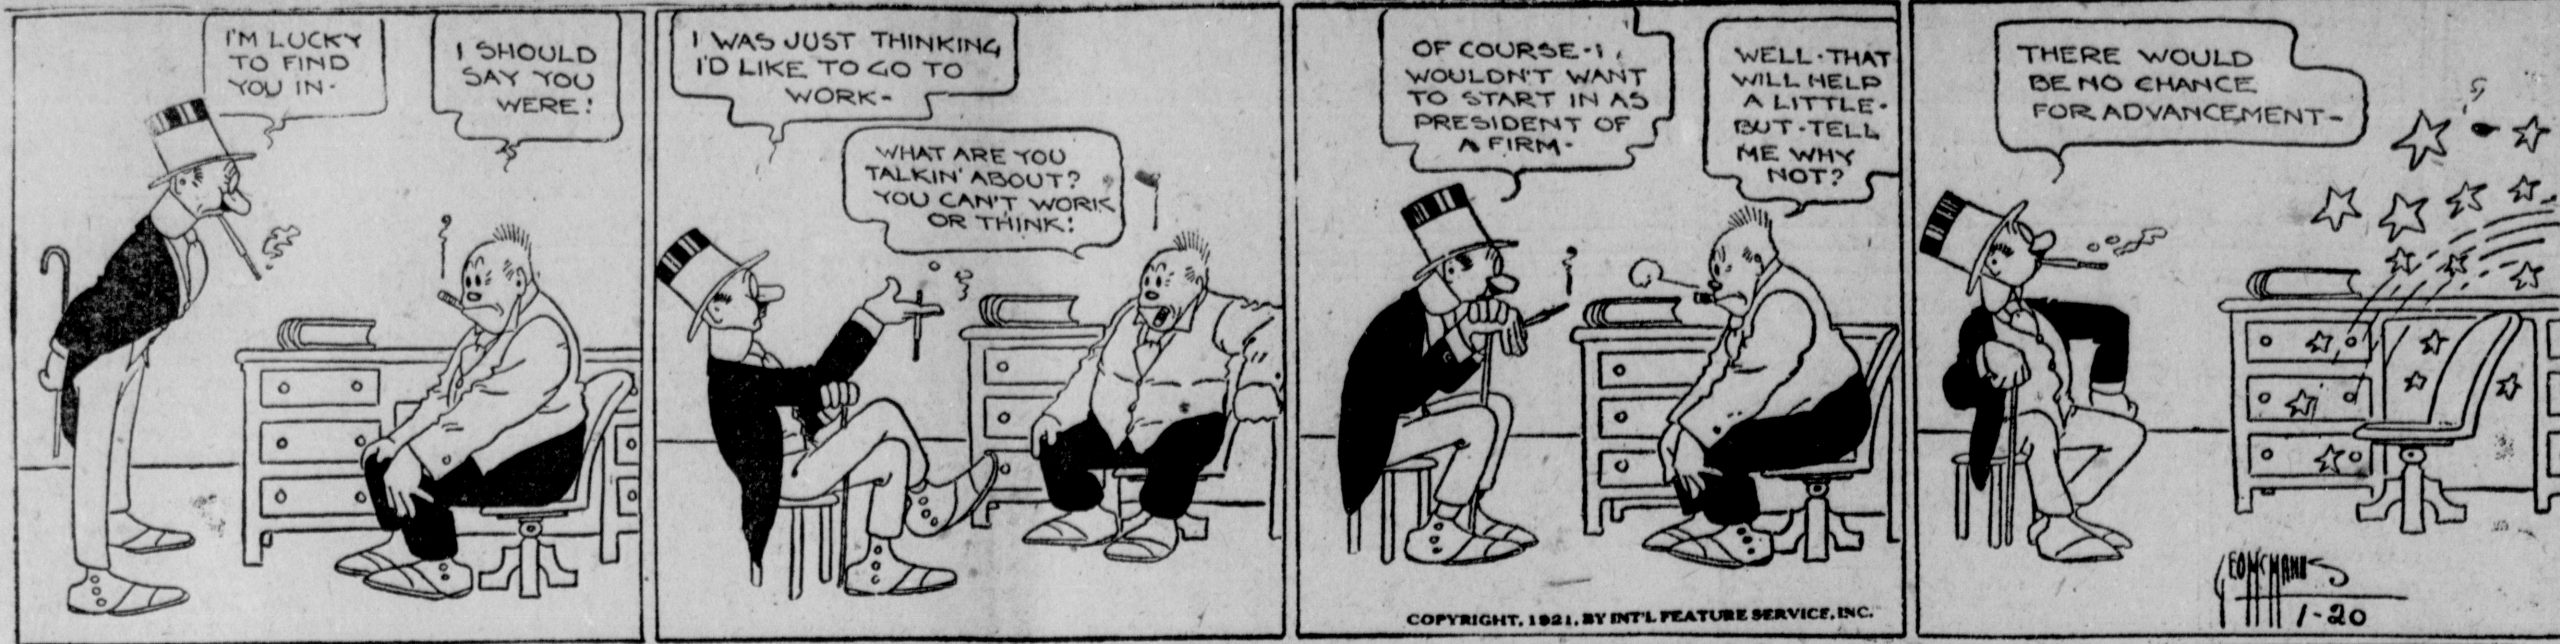

The furnace chimney flue should have no other openings into it but the furnace smoke pipe.

Keep the firebox surface clean. A crust of soot 1-4 inch requires 50 percent more fuel than when the surfaces are clean.

Do not let ashes bank up under the grate in the ash pit. Put but little coal on a low fire. Carry a high fire; the live coals should come up to the feed door. In moderate weather there should be 2 to 6 inches of ashes between the live coals and the grate.

Attend the furnace from two to four times a day. In mild weather, morning and night is usually often enough. In cold weather in early morning, again at noon, again at 5 or 6 o'clock and last at 9 to 11 in the evening.

Give the furnace the most thorough attention at this last firing. Clean the bottom of the firepot of ashes fill the pot with fuel. Leave a little of the flame exposed to burn the escaping gases. If the furnace has received this attention at night, the draft may be opened in the morning for half an hour before adding fuel, or the ashes may be shaken down and enough fuel added to last until noon.

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

UNPLEASANT HAPPENINGS

Mildred Stowell came in the next day. She had bought I. C. C. after it had slumped the first time, and was still holding it.

"Nice tip that was!" she fumed, unlike herself. "I bought a lot of it, and it has taken all my allowance to carry it. I am broke! I shall have to let you return that $250. Nan. I can't let my husband know I am speculating. He would take my allowance away if he knew it."

"But I thought—" "That he knew I risked my money! I guess not! I wanted the information for my own private use."

"I haven't it today, Mildred, but I will get it for you in a day or two." "All right! I hate to take it, but I haven't any choice. Do get Burns on the telephone and ask him about it. Don't let him know it is for me."

I did as she asked. Mr. Burns was very pleasant, and said he believed the stock was all right although it was still weak. But if one hung on it would come back.

When I repeated what he had said to Mildred she remarked cynically: "That's what they all say."

"May I call this afternoon, I have something I want to tell you?" Mr. Burns said just before I hung up.

"Yes, I shall be at home," I replied, sure he was going to help me in some way, rather help us. I never thought of his doing anything for me, apart from Dick.

Mildred soon left yet before she went she had once again delicately hinted that she would have to have the $250 as soon as possible.

"I thought she had given it to me!" I exclaimed, almost weeping. I thought I had had all I could bear for one day when Clara came over.

"Oh, Nan! I have had the most impudent letter from Goodman's (a department store) "and they threaten a suit if my bill isn't paid. You have about $50 on it. Give it to me please and I will put all I can scrape up with it, and pay it on account."

I had forgotten I had things charged on Clara's bill, when I had figured my indebtedness the night before. I was almost stunned at this third demand for money, and before noon—

"I haven't that much in the house, Clara."

"Give me a check then. You have a checking account now, haven't you?"

"No Dick has had to use all we have to carry some deals."

"But I can't understand, Nan. His father left him money. You buy your clothes of Felice. You have bought a lot up in Harmon and—"

"It is because of the lot we haven't the ready money," I interrupted, seizing upon the most valid excuse I could.

"But $50! I let you use my accounts Nan, and it isn't nice in you to stand me up in this way."

"I'm not standing you up, Clara! I will bring you the money in the morning."

"Be sure Nan! I can't wait one minute longer, even if I have to go to Dick about it."

"Oh, you wouldn't do that, Clara!"

I cared nothing in one way about Dick knowing I owed money—not now, but I hated to have him worried about anything if I could help it until he had gotten his grip once more. That was the way he put it—he had lost his grip on himself, and so was nervous and worried.

"Of course I have to, of course And if you bring it over in the morning as you have promised, I won't have to."

After she left I sat down and cried. I couldn't help it. Why did all these things have to happen just when we were so worried? And where was I to get $300? $250 for Mildred, $50 for Clara. It was dreadful.

I tried to think of something I could pawn, but I had no valuable jewelry. Even my diamond engagement ring would not bring enough, and if I pawned that Dick would be sure to miss it and ask questions.

Mr. Burns is coming!

That thought gave me courage. He knew Dick's loss, that he had been influenced by him to buy the stock. He was probably coming to make it up to us in some way. So I bathed my face, drank my tea and ate a little luncheon, then dressed carefully to greet the man whom I felt sure was coming to make amends for causing us to lose our money.

I knew nothing of the ethics of gambling—which, after all, are the ethics of stock speculating.
